

Pierre de Gaulle Foundation For Peace and Prosperity among Peoples

There is only one path to peace, and it is that of honor and fervor, the eternal way of France!

Humanity is in danger. The risks of a third world war are growing and are fueled by military and diplomatic escalation organized by NATO countries, notably through Ukraine. Never since 1962 has the world been so close to a widespread conflict, one that could quickly escalate into a nuclear disaster. The East-West confrontation, driven by the United States of America, has created an unprecedented economic crisis and a deep social divide. Their dangerous policy has reinforced the dominance of alternative centers of power and the creation of new economic, financial and political spaces, to the detriment of Europe and France in particular, through the BRICS, Africa and Eurasia, who affirm their desire to develop differently and independently of crony capitalism by freeing themselves from the American Dollar, which has become a sanctions currency.

The war in Ukraine is primarily an economic war to safeguard American political and economic leadership and the predominant role of the dollar in international markets. It has led to NATO expansion to the North and East, contrary to the many promises made to Russia since the German reunification in 1991, placing Russia in a position of encirclement that quickly turned defensive and then offensive.

Even more, the conflict in Ukraine is a clash of civilizations. This war has become an ideological struggle for the defense of fundamental and moral values, which are family and faith. For these very reasons, the current conflict has taken on a global resonance among populations very attached to the defense of their traditions, including the African continent, Arab countries, South America and China.

Faced with this state of war and the humanitarian and economic catastrophes it provokes, I have resolved to commit myself irrevocably to peace and friendship among peoples. With my teams, I will tirelessly work to combat misinformation and the single narrative, to restore truths, open minds and opinions about the true stakes of current conflicts, but also to defend the values and traditions that constitute the identity and unity of populations.

fondationpierredegaule.com

I will continuously promote a multipolar world, aiming for the flourishing and development of peoples while respecting their history, culture, and identity. I will tirelessly advocate for the essential values of education and knowledge, as well as for listening between peoples, the only conditions for understanding and therefore lasting peace among nations.

I remain faithful to the political thinking of General de Gaulle, my grandfather, who, beyond the circumstances and difficulties of his era, defended the freedom of peoples to determine their own destiny, as well as the necessity of a friendly and partnership-based relationship with Russia, the sole guarantor of prosperity and peace in France, the Francophonie, and the world.

With my teams, I am fully dedicated to continuing this policy, which defends the peace, sovereignty, and greatness of France, and I call upon all those who wish to uphold this same ideal to join me.